

Summer Reading for rising Level 7 Students

1. Biography

Read one biography of a person of your choice;

Write down 7 interesting facts you learned about this person. Add an illustration of your person at an interesting or important time in his or her life.

Here are some great examples of books about strong women:

https://www.amightygirl.com/books?age\_range\_filter=5

Some other good biographies for rising Level 7 students can be found at:

<https://www.the-best-childrens-books.org/biographies-for-kids.html> or

<http://www.teachingkidsbooks.com/5th-6th-grade/biographies-for-5-and-6th-graders> or <http://mrnuussbaum.com/bio2/>

2. Books of your choice

Choose 2 more books of your choice that are at your grade level or above. Illustrate a favorite scene from the book and write one paragraph (at least 5 sentences) about the scene. At the top of your page, write the title of the book and the author's name. On the back, write down your recommendation either positive or negative. (Why do you think a friend should or should not read this book?)

3. List of books

Please keep a list of every book you read this summer – write down the title and author. . I look forward to reading and talking about books with you next year.

I look forward to reading and talking about books with you next year.

All of this information will be due the first week of school! Please read throughout the summer, and don't wait until August. Keep your book information and list in a safe place so you can find it when school begins.

Happy Summer Reading!

~Mrs. Clark